Upon expiration or termination, Novell and Licensee agree to work together in good faith to transition Licensee from the MLA program back to Novell's regular sales channels; Licensee shall be responsible for any actual transition costs incurred by Novell in replacing the MLA Software and Master Software which Licensee has licensed under this Agreement. Within 30 days after termination or expiration, Licensee shall certify in writing that it has destroyed or returned all Master Software. The License Terms set forth in Exhibit A will survive the expiration or termination of this Agreement and will thereafter solely govern Licensee's use of the MLA Software.

7 Use and Duplication Rights. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement (which includes Exhibit A), Novell grants to Licensee and Licensee accepts the limited right to use and duplicate the MLA Software for Licensee's internal use. Nothing in the Schedule C shall be construed to release Licensee from any of its obligations under this Agreement. Licensee expressly agrees that it will be liable to Novell for any breach by Licensee or any of its Organizations under the terms of this Agreement.

8 Audits. For purposes of this Section 8, "Licensee" means both Licensee and any participating Organization. Licensee agrees to keep and maintain complete and accurate records to document all copies of MLA Software made under this Agreement, and further agrees to retain such records for 2 years after payment for such copies is made. Licensee agrees to cooperate fully with Reseller to ensure that all copies of MLA Software made hereunder are accurately and completely accounted for in Reseller's records, reports, and payments required under the MLA, and shall certify in writing the accuracy of Reseller's annual report required under the MLA. Upon no less than 10 days prior written request from Novell, Licensee will provide Novell audit access to such records during Licensee's normal business hours. Such audit may not be conducted more frequently than once in any calendar year, unless a prior audit disclosed material discrepancies. Novell shall use the information obtained from any such audit solely to determine Licensee's compliance or noncompliance with this Agreement and to remedy any noncompliance; Novell shall otherwise be required to hold all information received during the audit in confidence. Licensee shall also conduct an annual self-audit to confirm the total copies of MLA Software being used by Licensee. N. Use means loading the Software into the temporary memory of a computing device, i.e., RAM, and running or executing it for the purposes for which the Software was designed. Unless the applicable license states otherwise, Use will be limited to a single computing device.

A license is required for each copy of SoftSolutions, whether executing from or residing on a host computer, memory, or a Portable Mode Enabled computer; or stored on a storage device of any kind, on multi-user computer(s), single-user computer(s), or local/wide area networks (servers and workstations/clients). In addition, a license is required for each computer that accesses the Software via a SoftSolutions Remote Document Server. You may use the Software in only a single environment (Windows or DOS) at a time. I. New Products or Upgrades. So that Novell may make available on the MLA Price List new Software products or Upgrades to current products, Your license grant for a product or Upgrade may differ from the above license terms. If there is a conflict or inconsistency between the above license grants and the license grants made available to You with a product or Upgrade, the latter license grants will prevail; as to all other contractual provisions, the MLA with this License Terms Attachment will prevail.

J. Upgrade Restrictions. You accept and Use Upgrade licenses subject to the following terms:

Further, You may not use any device, process or computer program in conjunction with the Host Software that increases, either directly or indirectly, the number of connections to the Host Software.

M. Commercial Public Network Service. You may not deploy NetWare 4.1 or IntranetWare Software in a CPNS which provides access to NetWare 4.1 or IntranetWare software by users of a public data network. A CPNS means a Global Communications Service ("GCS") offered to the
